National League Will Continue to Live -A. G. Spalding Visits the Star Chamber Session and Talks-His Election Temporarily Postponed -Other News.

John T. Brush's Baseball Trust, which was outlined in yesterday's Sun, received a knockout blow during the day's proceed-ings at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. While the cheme was not put to an actual vote in meeting, the promoters of it soon discovered that they were largely in the minority and, therefore, wisely concluded to keep the locument bottled up for the present at least Whether they will take another tack, with the idea of putting the scheme in another form into effect, is a matter of conjecture, but last night the Brushites were clearly dis-

National League as a body would dissolve on Dec. 19, the date of the expiration of the so-called ten years' Indianapolis agreement, that Brush and his allies got a line on the situation that sent them to the woods.

Brush's contention all along has been that the National League would die on the above date and that after the funeral a new organiration would be effected which would pave the way for his trust scheme. Accordingly, Brush offered a resolution at the meeting yesterday afternoon that was calculated to sound the magnates on this vital question. Much to his surprise the vote stood 5 to 1. New York and Cincinnati not voting, that the National League would continue to live after Dec. 19. Col. John I. Rogers of Philadelphia made the argument that carried victory with it in this respect. He was backed up by voluminous legal opinion and by him stood the Brooklyn, Chicago, Pittsburg and Boston clubs without a break. The dead-lock that had held the magnates in a viselike grip all of Tuesday was then broken and the schemers were down and out. That was the most important move of the day, for it showed that the old National League, after all, had some vigorous life left in it.

But there was another incident that was of marked interest to the assembled baseball men in the corridors when, just before the magnates went into session at 3 o'clock, A. G. Spalding walked into the hotel from the Fifth avenue entrance. He was instantly recognized and, as he passed through the throng, many old-timers looked happy. Spalding, who had been heralded as the man of the hour, proceeded straight up to the star chamber, where the delegates were orst and Ebbets, could be obtained it is ediess to say that these individuals are willing to give up Hanlon, their chief asset, nothing, as his departure would mean a run of the Brooklyn club Perhaps ey will be forced to change their reinds, but present they are not affald of anylody. Another story affant was to the effect that is Kelley would be the next manager of the Wyorks also that Keeler has received an let of $4.200 a year, money in the bank, a let the Chief and $1.600 in his hand to the filese of American Carpett.

GOLF. Thom Defeats Mackle in a Match-The

Travis Incident Again. Isaac Mackie turned up at Van Courtlandt Park on Saturday last and played a thirty-six-hole match with Charles Thom, the resident professional, for $25 a side. The refered was G. W. Dorland and a number followed the match. Thom was 5 up in the morning and won by 6 up and 4 to play.

In November W. J. Travis gave out some correspondence that had passed between himself and W. B. Lawrence of the Oakland Golf Club, in which the latter admitted re-peating rumors he had heard that Travis was not allowed to pay house charges at the Garden City Golf Club, and in which Travis pronounced the charges to be "absolutely untrue." The closing letter was a quasi-apology from Mr. Lawrence and there the matter rested until yesterday, when he sent the following letter to the amateur champion: DRAR SIR—The "lie" so triumphantly "nailed" by you was no mere rumor, but, as I understand, a statement made by you to Mr. A. W. Rossiter, and repeated by him to me. For me this closes the incident. W. B. LAWRENCE. TO W. J. TRAVIS, Esq.

To W. J. Travis, Esq.

A. W. Rossiter, who is captain of the Oakland Golf Club, said yesterday afteracon that he had read the letter, but that he did not know at all what Mr. Lawrence meant. Secretary Hubbell of the Garden City Golf Club has stated that Travis has no concessions whatever at the club. The entire matter is one on which few of the players care to speak, but in justice to the leading amateur of the country some official statement should be made by the Garden City Golf Club. As a well-known golfer said: "The venom has done its work," to quote Travis's letter of Nov. 11, at least partially. I think the Executive Committee of the U. S. G. A. should learn from the Garden City Golf Club the exact standing it bears to Travis, or the amateur champion to it, as you choose to put it, and then make a public report on the matter. If Travis joined the club for considerations, he should be disbarred as an amateur: If he is a paying member like the others the report will vindicate Travis's good name from the slurs of idle gossip."

FLEURON WINS THE HANDICAP

BEATS A FIELD OF GOOD SPRINT-ERS AT NEW ORLEANS.

Johnson Rides a Losing Race on Corillo in the Steeplechase and Is Suspended -Steele Also set Down for Foul Riding-Only Two Favorites in Front.

New Orleans, Dec. 11.—A large crowd witnessed the sport at the Fair Grounds this afternoon. The attraction was the five-furlong handicap, which was the first at that distance that has been run here in over five years. If You Dare was the favorite, while Sevoy, the top weight, was the second choice. After a tiresome delay the field was finally sent away with Frank Kenny in front. The field had not gone fifty yards before Fleuron and Little Jack Horner shot out of the bunch. They had the race between them to the end, Fleuron winning by a length in a hard drive. She was as good as 15 to 1 in the betting and was overooked all together. If You Dare, the favorite, was in a pocket all the way and could never get out.

Billy Karrick wired Secretary Clark from

New York to-day for stable room for twelve borses, which he will ship to-night. A num-ber of Eastern bookmakers and turfmen reached here to-day.

The local and visiting detectives arrested

There have been many complaints made by persons who have been robbed of their diamonds, pocketbooks and watches. One young man was caught just as the horses were going to the post in the first race "lifting" a watch from a local man's pocket.

Jockey A. Johnson was suspended indefinitely pending investigation for his ride on corilio in the steeplechase. Jockey Steele was also placed under the ban for foul riding in the last race. Only two favorites earned brackets to-day, and the good-thing players were the ones that secured the money.

The sport opened with a six-furiong dash. Little Scout and Winnora divided the play, both at 3 to 1. Amote showed in front until the stand was reached, when Little Scout collared him. The pair fought it out. Little Scout winning in a desperate drive by a short neck. Frank M. was the odds-on choice in the second race. He went to the front at the half and was never headed, winning with plenty to spare by three lengths. Dandy H. found no trouble in beating the others for the place.

The steeplechase handicap resulted in a nose finish between the heavily backed favorite, Corillo, and Golden Link, a 20 to 1 shot. C. Johnson, who rode Corillo, threw away the race at the finish. His mount was many pounds the best, and with a good ride would have won in a gailop. There was one spill in the race. Harve B. falling at the last jump, and although a number of horses passed over both horse and rider, both escaped without any bruises. Chilfon and Oracle, the latter the second choice, refused to take the water jump and ran out.

The fifth race was made up of a lot of bad actors, and after a twelve-minute delay Starter Fitzgeraid finally sent them away. Free Pass, played from 15 to 1 to 7 to 1, won by a scant length from Eisle Bramble. The ring was hard hit by the victory of Little Elkin in the closing event. He was played by nearly every one and won by a nose on the post from Irving Mayor. Judge Steadman, the favorite, finished last and failed to show any speed during the running of the rand 4 There have been many complaints made by persons who have been robbed of their dia-

A LONG SHOT WHICH COES TO-DAY. The long shot which we have consistently and persistently promised for Thursday goes to-day on schedule time. Rarely since our organization have we been so sanguine regarding the chances of a horse, and if one-half what our track experts assure us regarding this one be true, it affords the best opportunity for a "coup" of the year. Our experts were confident of ORLA, which won last Thursday at odds of 25 to 1, and on which we advised a plunge. They are positive regarding the one we shall name to-day. It is unnecessary to speak further of the merits of this one. Our advice will be to "go as far as you like." Any one familiar with turf expressions realizes the importance of such a "hunch."

FRANK M, 7 to 10, WON; IRVING MAYOR, 6 to 1, 2nd, and SEVOY, 5 to 2, 3rd, were named to WIN in our wire yesterday. "Plunge for the limit straight. Should come home on the bit," our wire read on FRANK M. CORILLO, 5 to 2, 2nd, and ELSIE BRAMBLE, 2 to 1, 2nd, were named for a place play.

SATURDAY ONE THAT IS "THE PROPER GOODS" We will uncover one Saturday that is "the proper goods" in every respect.

His owners have given him an easy "prep" and will "cut loose" with him on Saturday. The probable odds will be 6 to 1.

Terms, $10 daily, $50 per week. Out of town orders telegraphed.

Y. M. C. A. Alliance With Canadian A. A. U. An alliance with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada and the Young Men's Christian Association, will probably be ratified at the annual convention of the Cana-dian association during Christmas week. The Y. M. C. A. branches in the Dominion do not desire a membership with the Canadian A. A. U., but wish an alliance on the same plane as their affiliation with the A. A. U. of the United States. It is the belief in Y. M. C. A. circles that such an alliance would be a mutual benefit, as both organizations could arrange each others' rulings, suspen-sions and expulsions and work hand in hand for the purity of amateur athletics.
